

HUEY LONG FIGHTS ASSASSIN DEATH, TROOPS CALLED

DEATH PLOT PROBE BEGINS; POISON BULLET FEARED

Continued From First Page

blood transfusion. Fear was expressed that the bullet which entered his right side may have been poisoned.

Physicians also felt concern over the possibility of infection from the shreds of his clothing that might have entered his body with the bullet.

Later in the morning, Earl Christenberry, Long's secretary, paid the Senator a call and on leaving the room said the patient had "improved more in the last 15 minutes than during all the rest of the night." He said the blood transfusion had reacted favorably.

In New Orleans 200 National Guardsmen were mobilized for duty here.

The mobilized troops remained in readiness in their barracks in New Orleans. The order to move on Baton Rouge had not been issued early today, although 12 powerful motor trucks stood by to move them out on a moment's notice.

State officials said they had heard of no martial law order for the state capital.

Bodyguard Had Warning

As word from Long's bedside was awaited it was authoritatively reported the special legislative session, the seventh Long had called since last August, would be continued, resuming its work at 12 noon, Eastern Daylight Time, today.

Long's bodyguards revealed they had been warned to expect trouble at the present special session of the legislature.

Discussing the shooting, they said they had been told to expect "almost anything."

One, who declined to permit the use of his name, said: "We really believed a bunch was planning to storm the State House Saturday night."

Dr. Weiss, 30-year-old eye and nose specialist, was the non-Louisianan. A bill before the special session of the Legislature would have adversely affected the jurist's political fortunes.

The Senator—who, in Washington a few weeks ago, had publicly discussed a previous "plot" on his life, but who took it humorously—was in Baton Rouge directing the special session.

LIEUT.-GOV. NOES BLOOD

A heavy array of armed bodyguards and State troopers stood on guard outside the senator's room and the hospital, permitting no one but the especially authorized to enter.

For the transfusion, 10 samples of blood were taken and that of Lieutenant-Governor James A. Noe was found perfect and was used.

Even as Long was on the operating table, investigators and technicians of his powerful medical staff were opening a probe to determine if others were involved in the plot to kill him.

Heavily armed guards stood today at the doors of the House of Representatives.

Men with sawed-off shotguns and rifles were in front of the governor's office and in the hallways. Three children—Rose, Russell and Palmer—were rushed to the State House in an automobile.

Composed, but with eyes showing evidence of weeping, she left the hospital room and said: "He told me I may not come back, but I'll die fighting."

On the way to the hospital, O'Connor disclosed, Long quietly said in the taxi: "I wonder why he shot me."

Weiss' relatives also pondered this question. One of the bills before the special session it was reported, would "sequester" Judge Fay's district.

The doctor's mother, when she learned of her son's death, said: "Oh, God, we've been opposed to Long but I didn't think he would do a thing like that."

LIED IN WAIT

Dr. Weiss lay in wait for the Senator in a corridor, spectators said.

Fred Watkins and A. S. Shelton of Baton Rouge, who visited the State House to hear the special session proceedings, said they had seen Dr. Weiss standing in the small hallway near the Governor's office just before the shooting.

They said as they passed they heard Dr. Weiss mutter: "It was a long way."

He smiled wanly, they said. They heard the sound of shots a few moments later.

A woman said an hour or so before the shooting an automobile driven by a man she recognized as Dr. Weiss almost collided with her car when he backed it from the curb.

She said she appeared nervous. A crowd gathered at 10:30 a. m. (EST) that Long was gaining strength after the blood transfusion and after the blood transfusion.

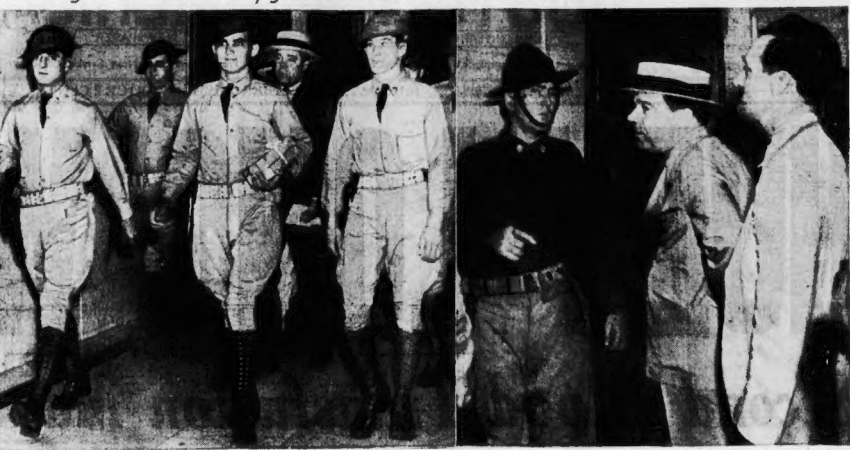

Dr. Weiss' body lay on the State House corridor floor for more than an hour until it could be viewed by the coroner.

FEARED FOR HIS LIFE

Senator Long for more than a year had feared for his life. When over he was in Louisiana, he was accompanied in public by a group of body guards armed with pistols and blackjacks.

Last year, Senator Long openly charged there was a plot against his life, and since the gleaming bayonets of National Guardsmen held an open investigation.

Long's Soldier Bodyguard—Not On Job On Most Critical Occasion!

(Picture from International News Photograph Service) SENATOR LONG SECRETARY CHRISTENBERRY

On previous occasions, Senator Huey Long has protected himself against would-be assassins by calling out the Louisiana National Guard. Here he is in the center of a full squad of armed soldiers, his escort to the legislature when he was conducting a probe last year of the administration of Mayor T. Semmes Walmisley, of New Orleans. In the picture at the right, the Kingfish is giving instructions to the officer of the day for the posting of guards about the state house at Baton Rouge. With the senator is his secretary, E. J. Christenberry. All this in 1934. But, when the long-awaited assassin finally stepped forward, gun spitting bullets, Huey's soldier bodyguard was not on the job.

JAMES O'CONNOR

SENATOR LONG

GOVERNOR ALLEN

"It's always fair weather" was the political war song of Senator Huey Long and his allies and friends when they met for such a get-together as this. The trivium includes the Kingfish, Governor O. K. Allen of Louisiana and Public Service Commissioner James O'Connor. The latter was at Senator Long's side at the time of the assassination attempt. He and O'Connor are important cogs in Long's political machine.

MRS. LONG

MISS ROSE LONG

This is one of the few pictures for which Huey Long's wife and daughter have even consented to pose, during recent years. Mrs. Long and Miss Rose Long have shown themselves strongly averse, personally, to the publicity so dear to the Kingfish himself.

Dr. Copeland's Tribute to Huey

By International News Service
SUFFERING, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Senator Royal S. Copeland (D.), of New York, today acclaimed Senator Huey Long as a man devoted to the American people. He said: "I sincerely hope the best reports are exaggerated and that his life is in no danger."

Expressing concern over the attempted assassination, Copeland said: "I sincerely hope the best reports are exaggerated and that his life is in no danger."

LONG LAID BARE 'PLOT' ON LIFE IN SENATE

By Associated Press
Washington, Sept. 8.—In sober silence the Senate last August 8 heard Huey Long describe a series of conferences of his political foes in a New Orleans hotel about what he said was a plot to kill him "right in the Senate."

Members of Congress, the mayor of New Orleans and agents of the federal government were claimed by Long to have attended some of the meetings and at which an unidentified "voice" was heard to say "I would draw in a lottery to go out and kill Long. It would take only one man, one gun and one bullet."

JOKED ABOUT THREATS
The Louisiana Senator, who now lies in a New Orleans hospital grovelling injured by an assassin, read to his Senate colleagues—sometimes jokingly—what he asserted was the record of a sound recording device concealed in a New Orleans hotel room July 31.

Assuredly quoting from the recording device, Long continued repeating what "voices" had said. One said:

"Single-handed!"
Voice: "That's the only way to do it. I once told his brother-in-law I would do it if he interfered with my law practice."

Voice: "I have the slightest doubt that Roosevelt would pardon anyone who killed Long."

Voice: "The best way would be to just hang around Washington, waiting for what is in the Senate."

Voice: "I once thought that was necessary, but I don't think it is now."

"So," Long told the Senate, "it seems like I got a reprieve in this matter."

He quoted another "voice" as saying:

"Gentlemen, the time was never more opportune to rid the state of Long than it is now. The entire resources of the United States are at our disposal."

ANASSIN NOT NAMED

"The name of Dr. A. C. Weiss, Jr., identified as the man who lost his life while trying to kill Long in the Louisiana Legislature, was not mentioned by Long as being present at hotel conferences.

Those he said were there included: Mortland Meadows, Mayor T. Semmes Walmisley of New Orleans; Representative John D. Long; Representative Sandlin of Louisiana; M. M. G. Allen, Oscar Whilden, head of the "Square Deal Labor" Union; Jefferson Davis Long, Jr., head of the "Square Deal Labor" Union; and "distributors" of federal funds in Louisiana and "now on the federal payroll: Rufus Fontenot, collector of internal revenue, and Frank Paterman, FERA administrator."

Mayor Walmisley was not named as being at the conference at which Long said "voices" threatened to shoot Long.

MRS. LONG GOES TO BEDSIDE

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 8.—Mrs. Huey Long, wife of the slain Senator, twice early today as he lay on a cot in a hospital bed, visited him in his abode.

She first saw him after midnight with their three children and remained about an hour before leaving.

She was evidently tense but composed on the first visit, she was more composed on the second visit.

Hattie Caraway Hopes for Huey

By Associated Press
Washington, Sept. 8.—Senator Hattie Caraway of Arkansas, whose election was aided by Huey P. Long's sound truck campaign, today expressed hopes for his recovery.

"It's just a shame a thing like this had to happen," she said. "I hope he's going to pull through," without too much doubt.

Long's March From Penury to Power

By International News Service
Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 8.—Victories in the career of U. S. Senator Long:

Born September 20, 1893.

House-to-house book peddler, 1904.

Patent medicine applier, 1909.

Married 1913.

Admitted to Louisiana bar, 1915.

Appointed state railroad commissioner, 1916.

Appointed to public service commission, 1921.

Defeated for Governor, 1924.

House-to-house book peddler, 1924.

Congressman, August 27, 1925, leaving Long talking on Senate floor in one of his filibusters.

Elected to United States Senate, 1926.

Re-elected administration with life patronage, 1934.

Launched anti-Roosevelt "Share the Wealth" campaign, 1934.

Impeachment sought, August 27, 1935, leaving Long talking on Senate floor in one of his filibusters.

Elected to Louisiana Capitol, would-be assassin slain, September 8, 1935.

You may need—

NEW BUILDERS

PLUMBERS • ROOFING

HARDWARE • HEATING

BUILDING MATERIAL

PAINT • LUMBER

AND ALL BUILDING AIDS

Find them in the Yellow Pages of the TELEPHONE DIRECTORY

'THANKS God' Huey LIVES

MOTHER TELLS OF ASSASSIN SON'S DAY

By Associated Press
Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 9.—A bereaved mother, Mrs. C. A. Weiss, Sr., "thanked God" today that Senator Huey P. Long is still alive.

Her son, Dr. Carl Austin Weiss, Jr., died last night under the blazing guns of Long's bodyguards after he had shot and seriously wounded the senator.

Dry-eyed, but obviously suffering tremendously from the shock, Mrs. Weiss told of her son's activities prior to the shooting.

She bemoaned the fact her son was killed by gun in the hands of Long's bodyguards.

"When he did a thing like that he must have known that he would be killed instantly," she said.

"But they (the bodyguards) didn't have to kill him the way they did. They didn't have to kill him at all."

Mrs. Weiss said her son attended Sunday morning mass with his wife and three-month-old baby boy, then went to the parents' home for Sunday dinner.

Fished and Swam
The entire family later went to nearby Lakehouse where Dr. Weiss fished and swam in the afternoon.

"We had no word, no intimation, nothing," she said. "All we know is that he took living seriously. Right with him was right. Right above everything, but I'm so afraid now, I don't know what they will try to do with us."

"My son and his wife went in swimming while my husband and I stayed out there in the woods all day."

"We never came back to the city until almost 7:30 o'clock last night."

"My son and his wife let me and his father off at our home while they went on home to make their own supper."

Dr. Weiss the mother said, ate supper and then went out in the woods to feed the dog and feedled it. At 8:30 he called a patient and told him to be at the hospital early Monday morning for the operation for which they had arranged.

"Then he helped Eugene, his wife, put the baby to bed."

"At nine o'clock he had to go out on a sick call. This is what I cannot understand. The capital is only a stone's throw from his home. Maybe he went over there to look in because we knew he would be in session last night. I don't know why he went in. None of us can understand it."

Happy Family
"But he must have gone almost straight from his house to the Capitol, for his wife says positively it was about 9 o'clock when he left."

"All day Sunday we were just a happy family group. He had the whole world in front of him. The first I knew of what had happened was when a newspaper man came to the house last night and told me my boy had shot Senator Long."

"Oh, no, my friend. My boy never did that. I never saw him. I knew that he was a fine boy, keen and intelligent. He was beyond the average. He was always reading a book, and he could do anything. Electricity, he could take care of that. Carpentry. Cooking. Anything. His future was brilliant."

When asked where her son had obtained the gun with which he shot Long, Mrs. Weiss said he had the gun and often, when the whole family went out to their camp in the woods, they took turns firing at objects in the water and woods.

"We did not use the gun Sunday," the mother said. "He may have had the gun in the car before he went to the Capitol. He has often carried it in his car for protection, as so many people do."

"The only thing I am grateful for in this terrible thing is this: That God let me see him. I am killed. I thank God for that. My boy is dead, but I would never want to have that on me. He is dead, my son. There is no doubt about that."

"The whole family has felt bitter toward Senator Long since he shot toward Senator Long. He was not killed because of his political actions, but there was nothing said at the attempt on the life of Long, Mrs. Weiss said."

"Our family is a family that shares bloodshed. This is a terrible thing. I wish that nothing may be said about it, but about my boy, because I know that he will give him justice. About what has happened, I don't look for justice in this. I don't think it is justice in this world."

VET VICTIMS OF GALE HONORED

(Picture From International News Photograph Service)

Military honors—rightly theirs as former soldiers of their country—mark the mass funeral of World War veterans who lost their lives in the Florida hurricane. Troops of the National Guard fire a salute over the heaped

TAPS!

FUNERAL PYRES BURN IN FLORIDA

coffins, ready for cremation near ERA Camp No. 11, at Snake Creek, Fla. The torch is soon to be applied to the pyre, threat of epidemic compelling this summary disposal of the bodies.

BURNED 2 GIRLS ALIVE; ENDS THIS LIFE

New York, Sept. 9.—Anthony Cugino, Philadelphia's Public Enemy No. 1, held as a suspect in seven slayings, committed suicide by hanging himself in his cell a few hours after his arrest here.

He fashioned a noose from strips torn from his shirt and suspended himself from one of the cell bars.

Unconscious when cut down by jailers, he died while ambulance surgeons and members of the police emergency squad were working to revive him.

Sometimes known as "Tony Stinger," Cugino was arrested as the culmination of a three-year search.

Police said that after hours of questioning he admitted participating in one slaying with which he was charged.

Among the slayings police laid to the elusive ex-convict were the brutal slay of two young women to prevent a "squel."

Wife Won't Believe
Slayer Killed Self
By Associated Press

New York, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Frances Cugino, comely brunette wife of Anthony Cugino, Philadelphia desperado, today refused to believe that her husband committed suicide last night in his cell.

"In from Missouri, you've got to show me," she said calmly when told in police lineup of her husband's fate.

Suspicious of a police ruse to trap her into admissions of complicity in the numerous crimes charged to Philadelphia's "Public Enemy No. 1," Mrs. Cugino denied having any knowledge of his operations and slayings.

"I never saw a gun in my home," she said.

Mrs. Cugino was arrested in a Staten Island bungalow shortly after her husband was arrested.

Detectives disclosed that they trapped Cugino as he went to keep a rendezvous with a woman mentioned in a farewell note to his wife as "Bally."

FRIENDS, FOES SORRY FOR HUEY

SHOOTING CALLED 'DASTARDLY'

Washington, Sept. 9.—Commenting today on the attempted assassination of Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana, Senator Norris of Nebraska asserted that "a senator has anything of that kind if we are going to have a free government."

"It's a dastardly thing and I condemn it in the most spirited language of which I am capable," he added.

Only a handful of Senators and Representatives were in the capital following the recent adjournment of Congress. Other comment:

SENATOR THOMAS of Utah—"Shooting always invites more shooting... the American system of retail is to use bullets and not bullets."

SENATOR HATTIE CARAWAY of Arkansas—"It's just a shame a thing like that had to happen."

SENATOR DONAHUE of Ohio—"It was very unfortunate and I sincerely regret it. But he is active and young and should have a good chance of winning through."

SENATOR NYE of North Dakota—"That's terrible."

SENATOR BONE of Washington—"It's a very unhappy and sad circumstance. When American citizens, who have the ballot in their power, resort to violence, I am terribly unhappy to hear of this tragic occurrence."

No Bilbo Commend
U. S. SENATOR THEODORE G. BILBO of Mississippi: "I have no observations or comment to make whatsoever; let Louisiana tend to her own business."

SENATOR ARTHUR CAPPER of Kansas said: "The attempted assassination of Senator Long was not unexpected by persons knowing the Louisiana situation."

Revealing Long's declarations on the Senate floor to the effect that "after his husband was arrested, I am going to attempt to kill him," Senator Capper added:

"It's too bad they have to settle things like that down there. But it seems there is a more bitter condition existing in Louisiana than most States have ever known."

"I deeply regret the attack on the senator's life, but it was not unexpected by persons knowing the Louisiana situation."

NORMAN THOMAS, Socialist leader, in a critique to Senator Long, expressing hope for his swift recovery:

"As a strong critic of your political policy and program, I am especially anxious to send word of my hope for your prompt and speedy recovery, and of my apprehension of the attempt to assassinate you."

Called Calamity
Governor Eugene Talmadge of Georgia described the attack as a "calamity to the State of Georgia."

"I regret it very much. Long serves a useful purpose. I think probably more so than any other man in the United States Senate. Although differing on the fundamentals of government, he and I are close personal friends, and I appreciate his absolute frankness and loyalty to principle and his high character."

SENATOR ARTHUR H. VANDENBERG of Michigan: "It is a regrettable incident and I feel sure all of us, regardless of political party affiliations, wish him a speedy and complete recovery."

SENATOR HARRY TRUMAN, Democrat, of Missouri, suggested: "The best way for Louisiana to get rid of Huey Long is to vote him out."

"I am sorry to hear of the attempt on the life of Senator Truman said. 'Naturally, I don't like to see anyone get shot. But I would like to see him voted out.'"

STORE HOURS NOW 9:30 TO 5:30

JORDAN MARSH COMPANY

Repeating a Very Popular Event!

SALE OF CANNON Turkish Towels

29¢ each
Usually 39¢

20x40 inch size... excellent quality... new striped patterns... reversible solid colors of blue, green, gold, orchid, or peach.

Cannons are aristocrats among towels. These handsome towels, reversible with solid colors on one side and white on the other, are offered at this price as a result of months of careful planning with the famous Cannon Mills.

Matching Guest Towels... 5 for $1
Matching Wash Cloths... 10 for $1

FOURTH FLOOR—MAIN STORE

at Boston's Pequot Headquarters

Sale of Pequot Sheets

Other Sheet sizes
81x108	$1.27	63x99
90x108	$1.37	81x99
		72x108
Pillow Cases		63x108
42x38 1/2	35c
45x38 1/2	40c

Mail and Phone orders filled—call HUBbard 2700 until 10 p.m.

HUEY'S BODIES QUICKLY PASS

By International News Service
Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 9.—Rev. Gerald K. Smith, personal friend of the wounded Huey P. Long, and leading organizer of "Share-Our-Wealth" clubs throughout the nation, today opened the tenes meeting of Louisiana's House of Representatives with a prayer.

He said that the Legislature act as one, with their leader stricken down by an assassin's bullet.

The first bill brought up provided that Judge B. H. Pavy, father-in-law of Dr. Carl A. Weiss, Jr., have his district moved from anti-Long parishes to Long parishes.

Dr. Weiss was killed by Long's bodyguards last night, after he wounded Long.

The bill was passed 73 to 14, and the Long administration machine was in full swing. Reports from the floor said Long leaders had pleaded with anti-Long men not to fight the bill and it was evident they had agreed.

There was no doubt after the first bill passed that all other Long measures would pass. Representative L. M. Wimberly explained each bill as it came up.

The second bill Mr. Smith also called on "all 10 million" members of the society to "spread all their minutes today in prayer" for Long.

SCHOOLS OPEN
In 17 Towns
School starts today in Arlington, Bedford, Billerica, Brookline, Burlington, Chelsea, Everett, Fitchburg, Lexington, Lincoln, Melrose, North, Newton, Peabody, Reading, Waltham and Weymouth.

Until Oct. 1, because of infantile paralysis, Lynn, Revere, Dedham, Norwood and Framingham have like-wise delayed their school openings.

PERITONITIS PERIL Seen Huey's Worst Danger

By Associated Press
New York, Sept. 9.—Huey Long faces only one major peril in his abdominal bullet wound, peritonitis. Other possible complications are numerous but all of them minor, and predictable.

This was the opinion gathered from surgeons and physicians here who were shown the official description of the wound caused by the senator's physique after they had operated today.

The bullet penetrated the transverse colon in two places, this bulletin stated. The transverse colon is the upper section of the large intestine. It lies some distance below the stomach and runs from left to right.

Perforation of the colon, with hemorrhage, it was stated, it always a symptom of danger of peritonitis.

The hemorrhage, as described in the official bulletin, is from the mesentery and the omentum.

The mesentery is the tissue connecting the intestines with the abdominal wall. It is a supporting structure. It carries blood vessels to the intestine.

The omentum is the covering or lining of the intestines.

Reminded that Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago, shot by Zangara with a bullet intended for Franklin Roosevelt, was also wounded in the abdomen and that his greatest reported complication was colitis, the medical men said there is not necessarily any danger of serious colitis in Long's case.

Woman Found Dead
London, Sept. 9.—Miss Mary McKee, 38, object of an intensive search following her disappearance last Thursday near Victoria Falls, Rhodesia, Africa, was found dead today by a native, according to an Exchange Telegram dispatch.

Miss McKee was a tourist from New York. The dispatch said the woman apparently had died of exposure after losing her way on a walking trip. No signs of foul play were found.

Nazi Navy in Maneuvers
Kiel, Germany, Sept. 9.—(NS)—Germany's naval maneuvers got underway today, following the first public appearance of the nation's latest naval weapons, miniature high speed torpedo boats, which were viewed off Heligoland.

STORM DEATH BLAME DENIED

By Associated Press
Miami, Fla., Sept. 9.—A report to President Roosevelt characterizing the heavy casualty list of last week's Florida Keys hurricane as "Act of God," and not directly blameable to any human element, was on its way to Washington today.

The report was released by Aubrey Williams, assistant administrator for the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, shortly after a mass burial of 90 bodies of storm victims.

Most of the bodies were of World War veterans, full military rites were accorded them.

Williams said delays in the arrival of an evacuation train at Islamorada were probably unavoidable in view of the fact that it was a holiday and unforeseen incidents occurred on the way to the Keys.

Meanwhile, as funeral pyres still burned on the Keys, arrangements were made to send a new squad of 200 men there to look for additional bodies which may be washed ashore.

Daughter Born
To Mrs. Hutchins

By Associated Press
Chicago, Sept. 9.—A daughter was born today to Mrs. Robert Maynard Hutchins, wife of the University of Chicago president. The Hutchins have one other daughter, Frances, nine. Mrs. Hutchins was Maude Phelps McVigil of Ray Shore, Long Island, before her marriage to the young educator in September of 1921.

Dedication Set
Chelsea's New Memorial Stadium, erected at a cost of $150,000, will be formally dedicated Sept. 15.

Chelsea veterans organizations are making preparations for the exercises.

PHONE YOUR NEWS TIPS TO THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN AND SHARE IN THE $50 CASH AWARDS THAT ARE OFFERED EACH WEEK

If so, the Boston Evening American and the Sunday Advertiser are presenting the opportunity. Every week a total of $50 in prizes will be given for news tips telephoned in to the News Tip Editor at Liberty 4000. There will be given $25 weekly for the best first exclusive news tip received, $10 for the next best, $5 for the next best and $1 prizes for each of the 10 next most valuable tips.

HITLER-TALKS TOWARD PACT ROOMS THAT TALKANCE

Continued From First Page

on the Ethiopian and Eritrean front, indicating an early offensive against Ethiopia. Emperor Haile Selassie, it was learned on the highest authority today, has instructed the Ethiopian delegation in Geneva to reject outright all solutions to the dispute proposed by the powers for the settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

These formula include a territorial mandate over Ethiopia, suggested by France, with League of Nations guaranteeing Ethiopia's independence and territorial integrity. France's proposal for an Italian protectorate similar to that of the British in Iran, and an international police force similar to the one that occupied the Saar before its restoration to Germany.

MAINTAIN IRON FRONT

The emperor made it clear to the delegates that Ethiopia will go down fighting rather than accept any of the conditions now proposed, even if the League is dragged down with it.

The emperor's decision followed a consultation with his "brain trust," including Everett Anderson, his American financial adviser, who urged him to maintain an iron front against the various peace schemes emanating from Geneva.

The emperor is also absolutely against an Italian political and economic hegemony in Ethiopia in any form.

Informed circles reported him willing to have foreign experts come to Ethiopia to help the government in developing and administering the country but under no circumstances can he accept Italian experts.

Haile Selassie is also opposed to the cession of any territory to Italy as a means of settling the long-broiling. In the past Ethiopia was ready to make territorial concessions in favor of Italy provided an adequate monetary return or an exchange of territory elsewhere was made for any land involved in such rectification.

The emperor is equally against giving any power a privileged political or economic position in the empire.

Italy Woos Hitler's Favor in War Crisis

By Associated Press
Berlin, Sept. 8.—The question whether Mussolini was trying to win Germany as a real friend was in the line of many German papers when they read of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's reception by the Italian Ambassador to Berlin, Benito Mussolini.

The fact that the reception took place on Sunday, the cordialness of the welcoming speeches and the "personal greetings" from Mussolini to Hitler, which he reciprocated, kept the people wondering whether Hitler's mission to Germany would go beyond mere diplomatic representation.

Political circles remained silent, but the map in the street interested this to the fact that Hitler was trying to obtain Germany's moral backing for his plan in East Africa.

British Fleets Rushed To War Basis as Warning

By Associated Press
London, Sept. 9.—Authoritative sources today confirmed the belief Great Britain has concentrated and prepared her Mediterranean and Atlantic fleets for any emergency.

Confirmation came close behind the report of Italian fleet movements in the South Atlantic and as the conviction increased in official circles that Italy was preparing for war.

U.S. FLIER IN ETHIOPIA Heat 'Roasts' War Correspondents

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
Djibouti, Sept. 9.—America's first official commissioned in the Ethiopian army departed here today with 14 correspondents and photographers, bound for Addis Ababa, as news reached this port that Premier Mussolini is expected to march Sept. 15 on Addis to revenge the Italian defeat 39 years ago.

Heat, fever and lack of water will be Italy's worst enemies. The Ethiopians, according to information here, intend to interpose only skirmish lines until the Italians are beyond Addis, where in gorges as deep as the Alps they will await the invaders from the heights.

The climate is not ideal for a military campaign. A pilot here said he had been shot down here with a heat so debilitating that he almost went mad. He said that the unmonstrous wonder was that anyone would want with any territory in this part of the world.

All the way down the Suez Canal the Red Sea is a cauldron of heat.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Colman—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go
The liver should pour out two pints of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does not digest properly. You feel sluggish, your bowels are constipated, your skin is sallow, your eyes are sore, your head aches, and you feel generally unwell. Colman's Bile Beans are the only medicine that will stimulate the liver to produce bile, and thus keep your bowels regular and your system healthy. Colman's Bile Beans are sold everywhere. Get a box today and see how they will wake up your liver bile.

When Freighter and Battleship Tangle

(From International News Photograph Service)

Naval experts of England and Germany will always argue as to which nation's forces were the winners of the famous battle of Jutland. But here's positive proof that in one up-to-date encounter Great Britain's 29,000-ton dreadnaught Ramilles came out a victor in a collision encounter with the Nazi freight steamship Euphrat. The latter's bow is completely crushed in, laying bare a whole section of the forward hold. A tug is assisting the battered cargo boat as it limps into Spothhead harbor, near Dover, on the English Channel.

Benes Heads League; Valera Quits Race

By Associated Press
Geneva, Sept. 9.—Dr. Eduard Benes, foreign minister of Czechoslovakia and known as "the father of the Little Entente," was elected president of the League of Nations assembly today.

The Italo-Ethiopian crisis overshadowed everything else as 49 of the 53 ballots cast named the Czech to provide over this important assembly.

Dr. Enrique Ruiz Guinazu of Argentina, retiring as temporary chairman, told the assembly it faces a "terrible conflict" and said the world "is distracted with the war."

Benes' election came after it was announced in the lobby that the French Republic had withdrawn its support of the League of Nations.

Laval Fights to Save League, Sees War Sure

By Associated Press
Paris, Sept. 9.—Premier Pierre Laval, whose advisers said he had lost hope of preventing armed occupation of Ethiopia, today disclosed he was returning to Geneva to direct efforts to direct efforts toward saving the League of Nations.

French fear of Italian armed occupation of the African empire was further reflected in reported moves of a detachment of colonial troops from Paris to Paris en route to Djibouti to protect the French-owned Djibouti-Addis Ababa railway.

In official quarters, the fear grew that Europe's peace structure at Geneva would be shaken again by Italy's expected campaign.

PWA Rejects Bay State Plans

Federal PWA projects in Massachusetts totaling $15,000,000 have been turned down by the Works Progress Administration, according to a telegram today from Washington by the WPA administrator.

In the telegram from Harold L. Ickes to the Boston WPA office, it was said that the projects rejected total $4 and include a project under which Boston would build a new City Hall.

The new Boston City Hall, under the Massachusetts schedule submitted to the WPA administrator, was to have cost $20,000,000.

A number of other projects listed by Ickes as rejected were the following:

New high school buildings in Plymouth, Northfield, Fitchburg, Ipswich, Norwell and Abington, as well as a new school for the community center in Marshfield.

Construction of a new high school in Marshfield.

Fire station in Greenfield and West Haverhill.

Water system in Norwell, Haverhill and Framingham.

Street construction in Pittsfield and Framingham.

Water supply and a sewer and sewage treatment plant in Mansfield.

No reason was given by Ickes for rejection of these items in the Massachusetts projects plan.

School Entrance Tests Listed

Because of delayed reopening of schools, fall examinations for admission to Latin and day high schools will be held as follows:

For admission to day high schools in Latin school, at Latin school building (for boys) and the Girls Latin school building (for girls) September 30 at 9 a.m.

For admission to day high schools in Latin and day high schools, at the Teachers' College September 30, at 9 a.m.

MILLEN'S JAIL PLOT TRIAL DUE MONDAY

Edward C. Fye of Roxbury, charged with attempting an armed delivery of the Milken brothers from Dedham jail on January 10, will go on trial next Monday with Harry Milken and Harry Milken Goldman, brother and sister of the executed slayers.

The state will seek to prove that Harry Milken and his sister, Mrs. Goldman, supplied Fye with a shotgun and then transported him to the Dedham jail for the attempted delivery.

STATES CHARGES

The case will be heard in the same courtroom where the Milken brothers and Abe Faber heard their doom.

Being the case largely on an alleged confession by Fye, the state plans to show that Mrs. Goldman first supplied him with money and then drove him to the West End, where he bought a shotgun which he later fired into the cell block while Irving Milken battled with the guards for freedom.

State officials plan to charge Harry Milken with driving Fye to the jail in the "mysterious" which was observed eluding the jail early on the morning of the frustrated delivery.

Hunt Gem Thieves

Jewelry thieves, who stole gems valued at $1000 from the home of William C. Rodden, of Pine Ridge road, Medford, are being sought today by Medford police.

Takes Wrong Dose

Mistaking potato for sugar, William Compton, Jr., 4, of Cameron street, Brookline, is recovering at his home today from the ill effects.

CARROLL

CUT RATE PERFUMER

SPECIAL! BOSTON STORES ONLY

23 BOSTON ST.—3 BROMFIELD ST.—102 TREMONT ST.
102 MASS. AVE.—109 TREMONT ST.
210 WASHINGTON ST.—1 WEST ST.—931 WASHINGTON ST.

BE SURE IT IS A CARROLL STORE

25¢
EX-LAX
1 DOZEN
5 Grain
ASPIRIN

We reserve the right to limit quantities. Not sold at outlets.

He Came, He Saw, He Took

Harry Meredith of the South End was found guilty in municipal court today of larceny from a Boston square five and ten cent store. He said he was merely in the store shop, but he was found guilty of stealing eight golf balls, one pocket book, 14 bill folds, one steel tape measure, 10 tobacco pouches, one safety razor, paper of safety pins, one cake of soap.

"I had been in the store less than 20 minutes," said Meredith in an injured tone, "and was just shopping."

Judge James H. Devlin continued the case until Thursday for disposition.

New Discovery

Moscow, Sept. 9.—The Soviet toothbreaker Solita announced by radio it had discovered three new islands in the unexplored Arctic zone between Prince Joseph Land and Northern Land, formerly Nicholas II Land.

The islands were known as the "Old Lawrence Park."

LAUGH HIT OF THE SEASON!

The whole town is shaking with laughter! Glamorous Marion in the clowning triumph of her career—with Dick Powell as her new sweetest! Page your girl friend and make a date to see this happy, hilarious hit TODAY!

MARION DAVIES

In her first Cosmopolitan Production for Warner Bros.

"PAGE MISS GLORY"

With this grand all-star, all-laugh cast
PAT O'BRIEN • DICK POWELL
MARY ASTOR • FRANK McHUGH
PATSY KELLY • ALLEN JENKINS • LYLE TALBOT • JOE CANTHORN • AL SHEAN

Directed by MEYVYN LEROY

"MISS GLORY IS A PART IN A MILLION FORMARION DAVIES: SHE'S THE STAR IN A MILLION FOR THE PART," says Joyce Dana of the Boston Evening American.

STAGE • GLEN GRAY and his Original
CASA LOMA ORCHESTRA
METROPOLITAN THEATRE NOW!

THE TIME THE PLACE THE WAY

Anywhere in America

by GREYHOUND

Traveling by Greyhound in the golden Autumn weather, you'll find a rare combination of warm happy days, bright harvest scenes and the relaxation of real comfort in de-luxed reclining chairs. Add to this the welcome saving of many dollars on each trip—to any part of America.

BY FRONTIER COACH TO MONTREAL, CAN.
Via New York 10:30 Best 10:30
Montreal, N.Y. 10:30
Montreal, N.Y. 10:30
White River, N.Y. 10:30
Newport, N.H. 10:30

GREYHOUND BUS TERMINAL
250 Broadway N.
CHAMBERS ST. STATION

'BREATH SPELL' LASHED BY G. O. P. AS PROPAGANDA

By Universal Service
Washington, Sept. 9.—Charging President Roosevelt's promise of a "breathing spell" for business will go the way of his campaign pledges, the Republican national committee today demanded a complete and permanent "rest cure" from government "Socialistic" experiments.

In its weekly bulletin, the committee pointed out that only two weeks before his sudden attempt to reassure business men, the President notified congressional leaders he intends to place a new blue eagle and other legislation of "doubtful constitutionality" in the "New Deal incubator."

In the light of these inconsistencies, the Republican organization denounced the exchange of correspondence between the President and Roy Howard, newspaper publisher, as a deliberate plot of partisan campaign propaganda.

The real significance in the letters, the committee asserted, was not the President's promise of a "breathing spell" but the questions which were left unasked and unanswered.

The G. O. P. attack also was directed at Howard. It said: "The Howard-Roosevelt question—and a answer—stunt has changed no man's opinion of the Roosevelt administration or the policies and program of the New Deal."

"There is nothing in the President's letter to which the confidence of men of affairs can make fast. It reiterates the fundamental fallacy of the New Deal—that it is impossible to distinguish between recovery and reform."

Richest Girl and Husband Glad to Be 'Home'

(Picture from International News Photograph Service)

It is apparently with the greatest of good cheer that the former Doris Duke, "richest girl in the world," and her husband, James H. R. Cromwell, find themselves in Honolulu, back at last on United States soil after their wedding trip around the world.

Council Approves $3,500,000 Bonds

To approve a bond issue of $3,500,000 under the Metropolitan Additional Water Loan Act of 1926, Governor Curley today called a special session of the executive council.

The council's approval was a purely formal action. State Treasurer Charles F. Hurley wanted immediate action to take advantage of favorable bids.

The dangers are considerable unless money is scientifically controlled, and unless these forces are held in check either by deliberate government or reserve bank intervention."

KNOX DEMANDS SOUND MONEY POLICIES

By Associated Press
Los Angeles, Sept. 9.—Edward L. Doherty, multi-millionaire Mides of the oil industry, is dead.

The 63-year-old ruler of an oil empire, which once spread over portions of the entire western hemisphere, died in his Beverly Hills town house.

A chronic invalid for many months, his death was the result of a complication of ailments. As a man who left a fortune in excess of $100,000,000, and whose philanthropies rolled into the hundreds of thousands, Doherty was one of the most picturesque figures in the history of oil.

While virtually in retirement, Doherty was president of the Petroleum Securities Corp., his major holding.

IN OIL SCANDAL
The story of Doherty is studded with peak accomplishments and not a few marked disappointments. He won fame as discoverer of vast oil resources, and notably as one of the key figures in oil scandals of the Harding administration.

Attention centered on Doherty in connection with a Senate probe of loans involving E. H. Hill and E. H. Hill, which had been granted by Albert B. Fall, Secretary of the Interior.

Doherty and Fall were indicted on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in the transfer of the E. H. Hill lease. Fall allegedly received $100,000 from his old friend, Doherty, whereby option of the E. H. Hill field was turned over to the Doherty-controlled Pan-American Petroleum Company.

E. L. Doherty Dead at 69; Croesus of Oil Industry

By Associated Press
Los Angeles, Sept. 9.—Edward L. Doherty, multi-millionaire Mides of the oil industry, is dead.

The 63-year-old ruler of an oil empire, which once spread over portions of the entire western hemisphere, died in his Beverly Hills town house.

A chronic invalid for many months, his death was the result of a complication of ailments. As a man who left a fortune in excess of $100,000,000, and whose philanthropies rolled into the hundreds of thousands, Doherty was one of the most picturesque figures in the history of oil.

While virtually in retirement, Doherty was president of the Petroleum Securities Corp., his major holding.

IN OIL SCANDAL
The story of Doherty is studded with peak accomplishments and not a few marked disappointments. He won fame as discoverer of vast oil resources, and notably as one of the key figures in oil scandals of the Harding administration.

Attention centered on Doherty in connection with a Senate probe of loans involving E. H. Hill and E. H. Hill, which had been granted by Albert B. Fall, Secretary of the Interior.

Doherty and Fall were indicted on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in the transfer of the E. H. Hill lease. Fall allegedly received $100,000 from his old friend, Doherty, whereby option of the E. H. Hill field was turned over to the Doherty-controlled Pan-American Petroleum Company.

Doherty contended the money was merely a loan and not to be connected with the lease transaction. Fall was convicted and Doherty was acquitted.

MILLIONAIRE AT 41
Born Edward Laurence Doherty at Fond du Lac, Wis., August 10, 1868, the future Croesus was graduated from high school and then began grubstaking for gold and silver in North Dakota.

He brought in his first well in 1905, the first of a series of strikes up and down California, New Mexico, Mexico, Peru and British Guiana. About 1910 Doherty hit the famous deposit near Tampico, Mex-

9 False Alarms In 70 Minutes

Nine false alarms were sounded in Boston today in 70 minutes. Following these came a false report of a hoodup at Dudley street elevated station.

Five "aparks" were arrested, but they convinced police they had been as much fooled as the fire men. They had dangled by wires from one box in another hoping to see "a good fire."

The false alarm record showed: 12:05 a. m. Mattapan; 12:07, South End; 12:19, Brighton; 12:23, Jamaica Plain; 12:27, Jamaica Plain; 12:35, Roxbury; 12:47, Roxbury; 12:47, Roxbury; 1:15, Dorchester.

UNIVERSAL CLEANERS & DYERS

AT OUR STORES
DRESSES
Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

Simple, One Piece

"Cigarette Halt"

"Cigarette Halt"—that's what men on the march call it when they stop for rest and a cigarette.

Cigarette Halt. Pass around the Chesterfields. It's a corking good cigarette. They have taste, yes, plenty of it, but not strong.

Chesterfields are mild, but they are not insipid or flat.

Pass around the Chesterfields

Chesterfield... the cigarette that's Milder
Chesterfield... the cigarette that TASTES BETTER

Mr. Boston McCoy Accepts Defi Of Lou

By AL MCCOY
(Sitting in Jack Conway's Corner)
LOU BROULLARD thought he got the jump on me when you gave him the opportunity of writing this column in which he formally challenged me to a match in Boston.

I feel flattered that Broullard should be challenging me after going on to say that he had the right to ignore me as much as he was sitting on the fist and handwagon and I was merely supplying the steam to keep the fight game rolling.

That is what he no doubt meant, yet he lowered himself to become the challenger. Although the truth of the matter is that I have been chasing Broullard for months, now I am ready to accept his challenge under any conditions. He can have the money and I will have the glory of knocking him out.

There is no doubt in my mind that he fears just such an ending as that if he climbs into the ring with me, for I have already offered to fight him "winner take all" and he has refused.

I do not have to establish any claim to a match with Broullard, who has held two world boxing championships and who has licked six world champions.

I believe my record shows that I stand ahead of Broullard among the contenders for world championship honors.

OLIN DODGER

I HAVE FOUGHT ten times as often as Broullard in the past year and have been undefeated. I wiped out the only blotch on my most recent record when I defeated Al Cahn at the Garden. The same Cahn defeated Broullard and had him on the floor.

Every time I have stepped into the ring at the Boston Garden and in my big bouts in Montreal I was to have only one more opponent and then a shot at Bob Olin, the light heavyweight champion.

I believe Rip Valenti, who matched me in the Garden, was sincere, and I know that on each occasion Olin has run out on me. When I fought Joe Knight in Montreal I was promised a match with Olin. I believe I will get this shot, yet I am more than willing to ramble all in a bout with Broullard, whom I am confident I can knock out, despite his record of having never been stopped.

I fought Tall Littleman in the Garden here a short time after he gave Broullard a 15-round pasting, and I knocked him out. I knocked out Sammy Slaughter at Montreal, a stunt Broullard was not capable of doing when he fought Slaughter here. In fact he was lucky Slaughter did not knock him out early in the fight.

My record makes me the outstanding foe Broullard could possibly be matched with.

SEES VALENTI

IT IS TRUE that I once acted as sparring partner for Broullard, but I was fired. And the reason is that Broullard was afraid of me. I started to open up, and I proved then and there that I could lick Broullard, so Johnny Buckley immediately gave me the air.

Since that day I have urged my managers, E. J. Fox and Bill Brennan, to let me a shot at Broullard.

At first Buckley laughed at them, but I am confident Fox and Brennan will get the last laugh should I finally get the opportunity to match guinea with Buckley's line fistic ace, Broullard.

I have an appointment with Rip Valenti, matchmaker of the Goodwin A. C., today in regard to meeting Broullard, only now Broullard and Buckley will be in the arena and I will be reached, is made public.

I am prepared to tell Rip that I will meet Broullard. He can name the conditions.

SIX N. E. PLAYERS DRAW FIRST ROUND BYES

OUIMET Plays NOVICE

KNOWLES WITH BRITON

By Bill Grimes
Of the nine New Englanders who qualified for the national amateur championship, which started this morning at The Country Club, Cleveland, Ohio, Francis Ouimet, Dave Whiteside and Bobby Knowles are the only players who did not draw first round byes.

Mel Heath, Jr., Brer Burn; Rodney W. Brown, Jr., The Country Club; Joe Lynch, Blue Hill; Johnny Nies, United Shore; Ray Lusk, Metacom, and Bobby Grant, Weatherfield, Conn. were among the 56 who drew first round byes.

DUNLAP OUT?

Ouimet is in the fourth quarter, playing an unknown—as far as this section is concerned—Yoder, Silver Springs, Mo., while Knowles is trying to reach the second round at the expense of Robert Sweeney, Sandwich, England, and Whiteside is playing Hugh H. Cline, of Louisville, Ky.

Ouimet was a first round victim a year ago at The Country Club, Brooklyn, falling before young Bobby Jones, who, of course, went out of the championship during the ensuing round.

If the United States Golf Association proceeds along the same lines as it did a year ago at Brooklyn, there will be a completely new draw at the end of today's first round.

Otherwise, Ouimet will be in the same bracket, as Lawson Little, the defending champion.

T. Colwell Thomas won his first round match by default, for he was scheduled to play Jesse J. Guldorf, who because of illness was unable to make the trip to Cleveland.

Little started the defense of his title today against Rufus King, a newcomer to national amateur championships.

Little is known of King's ability but the champion has had enough experience not to make the fatal mistake of underestimating his opponent.

SMITH '34 ACE

Any player who weathers the qualifying round of a national amateur championship, regardless of the district, is worthy of consideration.

On form, Dave Haron, a former champion, is not long for this championship, for he drew "Booby" Campbell, Seattle, Wash., who was the national public links titleholder two years ago, while the doctored predict that George Dunlap, the champion, will have trouble disposing of Charlie Munson, Jr., Fairfield, Ct., the Yale champion.

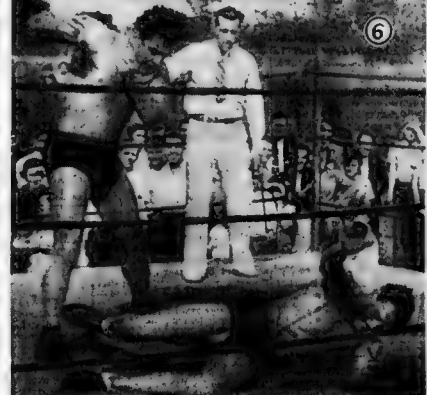

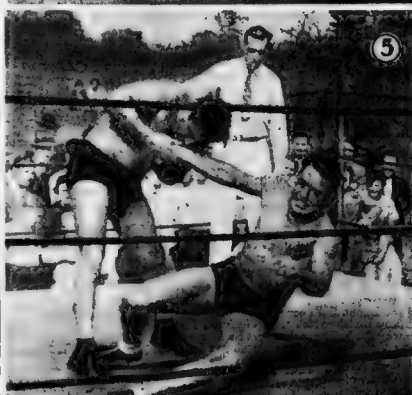

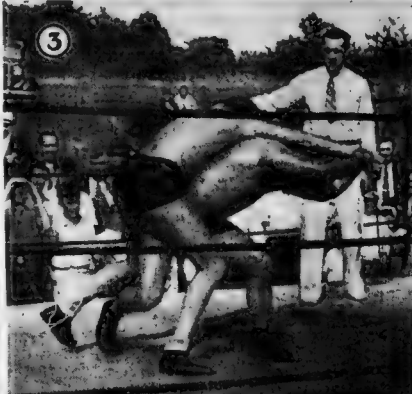

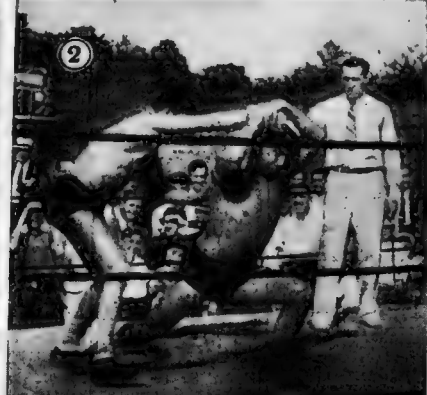

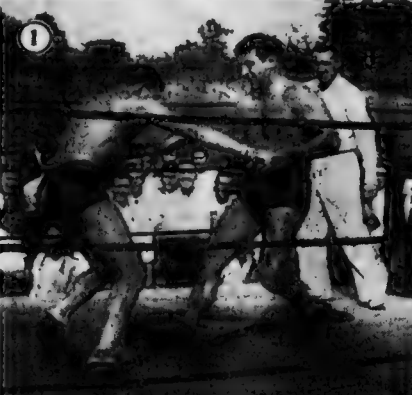

Chuck Evans, a former national amateur and open titleholder, is playing Hernandez Smith, Dallas, Texas. In the opening round and despite the experience of the Windy City veteran, the young Texan is favored to return a winner.

Smith was a sensation at Brookline last year. In fact, he stole the show, by winning five extra hole matches. During the first round, Smith was all even standing on the 18th tee and came through with a one up victory, but on each and every one of the next five rounds he was one down.

Starting the 18th hole, matchmaker of the Goodwin A. C., today in regard to meeting Broullard, only now Broullard and Buckley will be in the arena and I will be reached, is made public.

I am prepared to tell Rip that I will meet Broullard. He can name the conditions.

MAGIC EYE SEES DON BORROW DANNOS PET HOLD

What's this? Trouble brewing for Dan O'Mahoney if these Magic Eye camera shots mean anything. Ed Don George, who lost his heavy mat title to Danno recently and Wednesday night gets return go with Danno at runway Park, uses Irish Whip in training. The Whip is Danno's speciality and has been used with deadly effectiveness by him. Don, a really great matman, has learned to use the hold. He may win back his title by means of it. Scene No. 1, gripping Henry Piers' wrist; No. 2, starting the Whip; No. 3, Don turns to get leverage; No. 4, starting to snap Piers over and down; No. 5, Crash! And finally, Piers flattened.

PROS Show TALENT

BILL SHEPHERD SPARKLES

By Murray Kramer
The Redskins are potentially the best football team Boston has had since George Preston Marshall came into our midst three years ago.

The material is better than ever before, and if an offense can be evolved with particular stress on passing, the Redskins have an even chance to come through with the championship in the Eastern division.

The Sabbath exhibition at Madison was naturally a bit ragged, but little could be expected as the team had practiced only four days. In two more weeks the fans will see a much different outfit from the one they witnessed when Procter's Panthers best Baiter Battiere, 7 to 0.

The play of Bill Shepherd was the highlight. This former Western Maryland star is everything that has been said of him. He is better than an average passer. In fact he hits shots to corners of the field forced George Marshall to rush over to the press section and gesticulate about. "Who said we won't have a passer this year?"

ONE FAULT

Shepherd is also a good booter although not in "Coy" Battiere's class. As far as ball taking goes, he is in a class with Battiere, Peathers and Griffith. He showed only one fault, and when he corrects it, he should reach professional stardom.

He likes to run wide in back of his own line and try to outflank his opponent. That may be all right in college ball but the professional line men fade with that type of back, and he very seldom gets away.

But, however, made the longest run of the day except for the touchdown gallop by Larry Bentering, who intercepted a pass and lugged the leather fifty yards. Shepherd looked best on the right side of the ends. He hit and then often got away for runs varying from ten to thirty yards.

Battiere looked as good as ever. Bruce Flintner was the only individual who did any real blocking yesterday. It was the poor blocking which hurt the offensive surge of both clubs and made the game defensive affair throughout. Five "Sweet" Musick played only five minutes as he was hurt by knee and had to be carried from the field. In the short while he played the California sheriff looked great. His line blocking is as ferocious as ever, he backed up the front wall with the same power he demonstrated two years ago.

COAST STARS

As far as linemen go, the work was spotty, particularly on defense, but that was to be expected. Two San Francisco boys, Blenning and Harber, stole the show. Blenning was outstanding all afternoon.

Jim Harber played a great game at tackle and line back. Those would make the first club. The left tackle will naturally go to Turk Edwards, who is with one of the best linemen in pro football. The 260-pound giant from Washington is in far better shape than he was last year.

Eddie Casey felt great after the game, and said the boys showed as much as could be expected after four days of work.

Marshall was as nervous as a college coach. He lit cigarettes and slipped them away without even smoking them. He even jumped up from the bench every now and then to point out strong points that he feared some of the boys from the press overlooked.

Joe Sanatana of South Boston, who starred with Fordham, is being given a tryout at center. He has few equals. . . there is a good chance he will remain with the squad.

JOE PALOOKA

Morning

Yale Beaten, 9-3

Oakto, Japan, Sept. 8-Tale Oakto's touring nine was defeated in a Sunday game here by Oakto University, 9 to 3. Ted Horton pitched for Yale.

BASEBALL

Tomorrow at P. M. CHICAGO RED SOX VS. CUBS

BROCKTON BEAR
NOW ON DAY AND NIGHT FOR THE BEST OF THE WEEK
In addition to all its famous features
Actual Cat Contest
BULL DOCKING
BULL DOG RACING
HOP AND RAMP
WHEEL HORSE RACING
Presented on the race track in a Big way
Hard riding Champion Cowboys will ride a thousand dollars
WHERE YOU LET A RUN FOR YOUR MONEY
GENERAL ADMISSION 50c

RICH STRIKE WILSON'S CHOICE

New York Curb

Faces Very Cheap Field of Platers

By Dave Wilson
(Injections made for heavy track)
BEST BET—RICH STRIKE

Narragansett Park, Sept. 9.—Richstrike, T. F. Swords' good plater, stands right out like a lighthouse over an indifferent lot of juveniles opposing him in the 5½ furlongs of the fourth number here on Tuesday afternoon.

This plater turned in a corking second to Patay Begone at six furlongs last trip. He will be meeting weaker opposition and the abbreviated distance should be right down his alley.

FIRST—OL RIVER, Gals. Over Tender
OL RIVER flashed good form in graduating from the maiden ranks the last time out. The Gals. colorbearer is stepping up a bit here, but I just can't see anything boding him for the major award GALS. just missed getting back out. He is in the line to go.

SECOND—FESTOON, WISE KING, BROADWAY BILL
FESTOON's last effort gave for the boys on the end book. In a previous engagement she turned in a nice third to Sandy Bear. WISE KING has been performing fairly well in slightly better company.

BROADWAY BILL displayed high early foot in his last two New York efforts before losing in the track.

THIRD—LIBERTY OAK, ANTARCTIC, SQUEEZE OUT
LIBERTY OAK just failed to outlast Mastin last trip. He needs only to duplicate that performance to offer the contention if sent right back. OVER YONDER rubbed the top one by a narrow margin earlier in the meeting.

FOURTH—RICH STRIKE, ARNOLD, ARGON
If anything upsets my hope and hands RICH STRIKE a drubbing, it will likely be ARNOLD. The latter turned in a corking second last time out. Argon, a brick mortar, worked sharp up next best.

FIFTH—GOLDEN WAVE, ACACAT, FAKE
GOLDEN WAVE is a very good plater. He is in the line to go up fresh and good. This plater holds plenty of class as may be attested by a long string of victories over New York tracks. ACACAT was a winner on Saturday and figures to offer the contention if sent right back. FAKE is dropping down a few paces and must be scored, at least, a light chance.

SIXTH—BLIND BROOK, SPARK, FABLES
BLIND BROOK turned in a dull effort last trip. In front of that he was a gallant runner. He is in the line to go up fresh and good. SPARK, runner-up to Red Komer, for the remainder of the season.

SEVENTH—N ERIN, LALU LITE, NANTAWO
N ERIN shapes up best here in general form. Surely, his victory of Saturday leaves nothing to be desired. LALU LITE, mutual favorite, is in excellent form, well suited by all the conditions. NANTAWO is sure to show marked improvement.

EIGHTH—OL WAY, NOBBERINGTON, BALANCER
OL WAY shapes up as the logical choice here. This old mare is right at the peak of her form and the track will be a very ordinary mudder in her form. He'll be all dangerous, however, if the going is fast. BALANCER is an excellent money possibility.

Louis Set To 'Dust Off Baer'

By International News Service

Pompano Lakes, N. J., Sept. 8.—Gene Roman was surprised, and he frankly admitted it. The record made No. 1 of New Jersey's race horses learned back against a race inside the "backyard" of the Pompano Lakes track.

Louis and Paul Cavalier finished their two-round point in the ring of the Pompano Lakes track. "I never thought he was that good," he mumbled.

"I knew he was strong, and that he was a murderous puncher. But I never thought he was that good a boxer, too. Why, he was regarded as one of the best gymnasium workers in the world."

He has worked with Gene Tunney, Jack Sharkey, Max Baer, and Max Baer—some of the best fighters in the world.

He has been a prizefighter for years ago, and he has been a prizefighter for years ago, and he has been a prizefighter for years ago.

Off the from Shuttler Jim flashed in yesterday's workout, he hit at the peak, physically and pugilistically. He could step into that Yankee Stadium ring tonight and, to use his own words, "dust off Baer."

What the Stars Did

Joe Kibel, Senatore—Made two wins against Tiger, driving in run with first ball at Boston runs in first victory over White Sox.

Dieter Dean, Cardinals, and Orville Gurnea, Phillies—Dean blazed Philadelphia with four hits in first victory; Gurnea blazed effectively to win second game.

Joe Kibel, Senatore—Made two wins against Tiger, driving in run with first ball at Boston runs in first victory over White Sox.

Dieter Dean, Cardinals, and Orville Gurnea, Phillies—Dean blazed Philadelphia with four hits in first victory; Gurnea blazed effectively to win second game.

Joe Kibel, Senatore—Made two wins against Tiger, driving in run with first ball at Boston runs in first victory over White Sox.

Dieter Dean, Cardinals, and Orville Gurnea, Phillies—Dean blazed Philadelphia with four hits in first victory; Gurnea blazed effectively to win second game.

Joe Kibel, Senatore—Made two wins against Tiger, driving in run with first ball at Boston runs in first victory over White Sox.

LAZZERI STRIKING OUT

The mighty Lazzari has struck out. It's not the Tony Lazzari, great second-baseman for the Yankees, but another Italian athlete who played for the Cudahy Packing team in the Heast soft-ball tournament.

in Lincoln Park, Chicago. Soft-ball is a big sport in the middle and far west, and enormous crowds attend the important games. This game was one of several in a tourney to decide the Chicago champion.

BAER All Set for LOUIS

"DO-OR-DIE AFFAIR"

By HYPE IGGE
International News Service

Speculator, N. Y., Sept. 8.—If there remain any lingering doubts that Maximilian Adelsberg Baer isn't training assiduously for his slugging with Romber Joe Louis at the Yankee Stadium on the 24th, list to a accurate report on the former champion's dismal routine here since he established camp on Aug. 17.

You will discover, as I did, that Max is preparing as never before, and, as a result, gaining that old condition which is essential to providing a great fight.

Max told me: "You know, I want to win this fight more than any I've ever won. I have a lot of things on my mind. They used to tell me that I was a sucker for some of my friends. That they'd desert me if I ever took a lickin'. Well, they were wrong. I want to win this fight because I'm sold on the idea of becoming a champion again."

"Joe Louis is in for a none too easy time. He's got to be a big sport in the middle and far west, and enormous crowds attend the important games. This game was one of several in a tourney to decide the Chicago champion."

Max's words bear evidence when he is observed in his daily preparations here for Louis. He's really training.

MAHONY SHFT FLAHERTY TO RUNNING BACK

Can Prophesy Mutuel 'Take' To Dollar VIES WITH FERDENZI

By Walter Kiley
Woburn's Paul Flaherty has bordered on football greatness at Boston College for the past two seasons, only, however, to fall just short of stardom after a sensational debut performance.

The square-jawed, black-thatched son of one of the Tannery City's most prominent athletic families, possessed of a magnificent build and a native ability, has seemingly been miscast in a quarterback capacity.

Modest to a fault and reticent by nature, despite a fistic ability which saw him administer lethal knockout down to amateur prize fight aspirants, Flaherty apparently lacked the drive and the dominant personality so essential to a successful field general.

John "Dinny Mac" McManis new Boston College coach, evidently recognizes his shortcomings and also his assets and is therefore recasting him in the number four back position, where his talents at running, passing and punting can be utilized to good advantage without hampering him by play directing responsibility.

Flaherty was an unknown quantity when he came up to varsity at University Heights as a sophomore during the fall 1933 season. Until the Boston University game, here played for three sensational touchdowns, one of which went for 30 yards or more.

He added another remarkable touchdown by running, which he did completely demoralizing a helpless foe.

VERY SHIFTY
Flaherty is a shifty, a pretty back in action. He has good back in action, running easily and flipping laterals and forwards accurately and "soft," the kind that settles in a mate's hands and stay there.

But before he can hope to hold his own in the line that settles in a mate's hands and stay there, he must first be able to hold his own in the line that settles in a mate's hands and stay there.

Attitude Ferdenzi of Andover, junior sophomore, Tom Gurnea, and his fellow townsmen, Edward "Jack" Driscoll, are worthy rivals at the running back position.

With the running of the Western Headcup . . . the 12 stakes will be during the final week of the season. . . . a running on Wednesday, and . . . three-and-a-half on Wednesday.

HERCULES Motors

Cleveland-Hercules Motors Corporation declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents per share, payable on September 10, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

The dividend is payable on September 10, 1935, to shareholders of record as of September 5, 1935.

PORT OF BOSTON NEWS

Delaware, Newark, Philadelphia, and other cities are expected to arrive in Boston on September 10, 1935.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

The arrival of these cities is expected to be a significant event for the port of Boston.

PORT OF BOSTON Presents MANY FINE Services

By Hugh E. Bradshaw

The Maritime Association of the Boston Chamber of Commerce has just released an exhaustive survey of the port facilities of Boston.

Complete to the smallest detail it is an invaluable work for shippers and exporters and particularly for those in the foreign activity. It is sent all over the world and will do much to further the prestige of Boston Harbor.

Our repeated assertion that sales volume has been outstripping inventories of retail stores is substantiated by figures compiled by the Port of Boston.

These same may claim, will go in good part to trucks, especially where there is a short haul from market to sales outlet.

But the raw stock movement is the one that will help and this comes at a time when rapid expansion is being urged for the first time.

Small wonder many observers, including analysts, refuse to believe that stock prices on the whole will long remain at their present level.

Bulls are absolutely sure that for the best market opportunities of this fall.

Question as to just how high the market group will be passed on the financial side.

N.Y. Bonds

Table with 4 columns: Bond Name, Price, Yield, and other details. Includes various government and corporate bonds.

Table with 4 columns: Bond Name, Price, Yield, and other details. Includes various government and corporate bonds.

Table with 4 columns: Bond Name, Price, Yield, and other details. Includes various government and corporate bonds.

LEAF TOBACCO

Net Profit Up

Report of Universal Leaf Tobacco Company for the year ended June 30, 1935, shows net profit of $1,589,427, including $17,650 net profit on sale of plant assets and investment.

Boston Stocks

Table with 2 columns: Stock Name and Price. Lists various Boston stocks and their current prices.

NEW YORK CLOSE

Table with 4 columns: Stock Name, Price, Change, and other details. Includes various New York stocks.

Table with 4 columns: Stock Name, Price, Change, and other details. Includes various New York stocks.

Table with 4 columns: Stock Name, Price, Change, and other details. Includes various New York stocks.

MUNICIPAL Financing Lower

State and municipal financing for August totaled $51,333,667, compared with $48,821,000 in August, 1934.

Union Twist Drill

Union Twist Drill Company declared a dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock.

Irregular AT CLOSE

Roosevelt Promises

Franklin D. Roosevelt presumably will be a candidate for the presidency for the 1937-1941 term.

Many Issues AT NEW HIGHS

New York, Sept. 9.—The stock market milled about nervously today. Many issues got into new high territory for the year while others backed up under profit taking.

Alfred Chemical went up 6 points and a number of food stocks rose. The steel market was quiet, with most issues at new highs.

Timely Topics

It was noted that the slight slackening of business occasioned by the recent Labor Day holiday was not reflected in the market.

The rise in the price of the Federal Reserve Bank for the week ended September 8, 1935, was 21 percent over the preceding week.

The national headline today was the election of a new President, which has been through during its closing days.

Mr. Roosevelt was elected President of the United States, defeating Mr. Hoover.

At the same time attention was given to the report that the steel market was slackening.

The price of the Federal Reserve Bank for the week ended September 8, 1935, was 21 percent over the preceding week.

The price of the Federal Reserve Bank for the week ended September 8, 1935, was 21 percent over the preceding week.

Consumption of Cotton Is Lower

New York, Sept. 9.—World consumption of American cotton during the week ending July 27 totaled 12,249,000 bales, according to a report of the American Cotton Shippers' Association.

Sugar Meltings

Sugar Meltings, Inc., announced that it had received a contract for the melting of 100,000 tons of sugar.

FLOYD GIBBONS' PAGE OF THRILLS AND MYSTERY

Buried Alive!

The Story of a Man Who Returned From the Grave!

By FLOYD GIBBONS

HELLO, EVERYBODY!

How would you like to be buried alive? Wouldn't like it? Neither would I. FREDERICK P. HALLISSEY, of 573 SUMMER STREET, LYNN, didn't care much about it either, but he was buried alive, and thereby loses this tale.

FLOYD GIBBONS

Yes, Mr. boys and girls, Fred was laid out in a coffin and buried under six feet of earth for one hundred and twenty-two hours!

And the funny part was that Fred wasn't dead and nobody even thought he was dead. He was just dead broke, in Quincy, Illinois, in the fall of 1912, and when a showman offered him a job as leading man in a "Buried Alive" act Fred jumped at the chance to pick up a little extra money.

But it wasn't so easy, and Fred came out near staying in his grave that it wasn't funny either. Here's what happened:

Fred got the job when the original "living corpse" refused to go through with his contract. The act was billed to commence that very night, so Fred didn't even have time to rehearse. He says he visited a few stores to get a suitable outfit for the grave occasion and landed out at the grounds just in time to be interred.

The showman assured Fred that there really wasn't any danger, but Fred says the signs all over town advertising the act made him understand why the other man quit. Those signs were pretty ghastly. One big sign, which stood right beside an open grave at the grounds, announced made him quit. The sign read:

MAN BURIED ALIVE!

SEE HIM! SPEAK TO HIM! HEAR HIM!

Meanwhile, a big crowd had gathered, and at 8:15 p. m. promptly—as advertised—Fred removed his shoes, lay down in the coffin-like box and allowed them to screw the lid down.

The box, Fred says, was a "trifle confining," but otherwise comfortable. It had a square hole cut in the top above his face, which connected up with a seven-foot shaft for ventilation. The shaft was divided—"one-half for inhaling and the other for exhaling," and also served as a peek-hole for the customers to peer down.

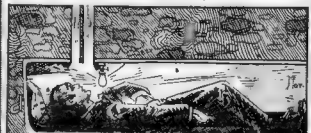

He also had an electric light, a fan, bedding and a pillow. Food was lowered to him through the shaft in a small pail. Things might have been worse, Fred says, but he began to get the shakes when they lowered him into the hole, and he yelled big murder when he heard clods of earth thumping on the box over his head. But nobody was listening to Fred at the moment.

He hadn't been buried long enough to establish communications with the upper world. When he did get in touch with the 24-hour watchman, who was on duty at the top of the shaft, he decided he might just as well stick it out and collect.

Fred says he soon found that he wasn't alone in that coffin. Big black beetles, he says, "bothered me terribly," but aside from the beetles and the boredom of lying still with only a square peep of sky to look at "everything went fine—until the fourth night."

And on the fourth night it rained.

Now I don't suppose rain bothers many people in their graves, but it sure roused the Dickens with Fred. First, the watchman called down the shaft that he was going to take shelter in the barn. He placed an umbrella over the opening and went away. Fred went to sleep.

Some time later Fred awoke suddenly to find to his horror that he lay in two inches of water, and more water was seeping slowly through the sides of his coffin!

Fred says he screamed with terror, but only the sound of the driving rain above answered his cries—the watchman was still away and Fred realized with a sinking heart—that at the rate the water was entering the box—he would soon be drowned like a rat in a trap.

His thoughts, he says, became uncontrollable. He screamed, prayed and kicked at the grim lid above him savagely, but the water continued to drip in, slowly but surely—relentless as Death itself.

Fred says that the last words of the showman, as they placed him in the box, came back to him.

"If anything happens to you," he had said, "we'll just close the shaft and put you to rest!" If he had only known how prophetic those words were to be!

Fred kept on yelling and praying until his voice grew hoarse as a whisper, and then he lay back exhausted and waited for the end.

The stopping of the sound of the rain above was the first sign that gave him renewed hope. He listened. The rain had stopped. He carefully measured the depth of the water in the box and then waited anxiously. A breathless half-hour that seemed years went by. He measured again and let out a hoarse croak of joy.

The water in the grave was receding!

Well, Mr. Fred told the watchman when he returned that he wanted to get out, but the watchman talked him into staying buried until that night when the great exhumation was advertised to take place.

So Fred stuck it out and got paid and lived happily ever after his burial. But, he says, you won't get him into another grave until he is put there for the last time. That's all for today, boys and girls.

The next adventure story will be "Naked in the Flames." And until tomorrow, Rest in Peace!

It's as easy as just reaching for it—and a heck of a lot more fun. That's what hundreds of Boston American readers say of the $10 and $100 bills they have received from head-hunter Floyd Gibbons for their TRUE adventure stories. Floyd says everybody has had at least one thrilling experience, and he wants to write up yours. Send him the facts, and win a pocketful of dough, like Mrs. Henry W. Gould of Worcester, who drew a $10 check and a $100 prize.

HOW TO WIN
$100.00
And Membership in The Floyd Gibbons Adventurers' Club

It's all very simple. There are no rules, and everyone is eligible. Just write down the facts of your most thrilling adventure and mail it to Floyd Gibbons, care of the Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop square, Boston, Remember, the story must be TRUE. Don't worry about how well you can write. Floyd will take care of that. Floyd will pay $10 for every story printed and an extra prize of $100 for the best story of the month. Keep a copy of your story if you wish to have it. AS NO STORIES CAN BE RETURNED. Do not send valuable pictures or souvenirs of your adventure. Send the FACTS.

SECRET AGENT X-9

TIM TYLER'S FLYING LUCK

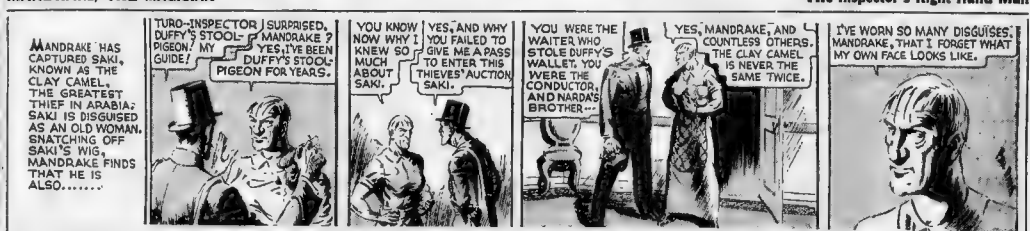

RED BARRY

(Follow Red Barry in the Big Comic Section of the Sunday Advertiser)

MANDRAKE, THE MAGICIAN

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

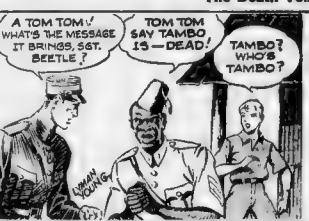

THE LITTLE WOMAN

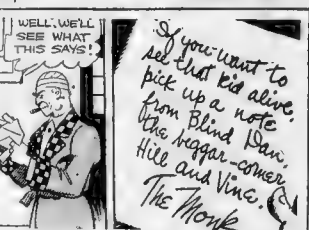

Men in Uniform

The Death Toll

Marked Personal

The Inspector's Right Hand Man

He's Got Their Number

Nursing Him Along

THIMBLE THEATRE, Starring POPEYE

BRINGING UP FATHER

(Follow Jiggs and Maggie in the Big Comic Section of the Sunday Advertiser)

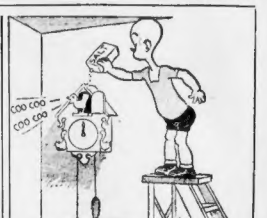

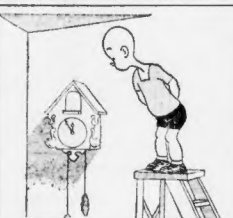

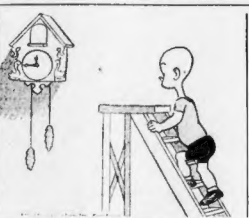

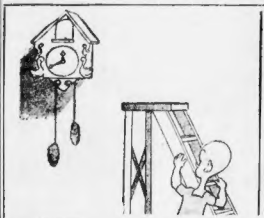

Change Called For

HENRY

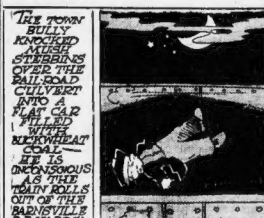

(Follow Henry in the Big Comic Section of the Sunday Advertiser)

Just an Experiment

JUST KIDS

Orphan of the Storm

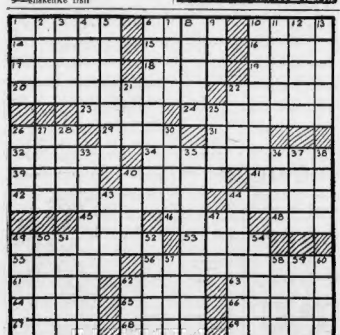

CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

By Eugene Sheffe

- HORIZONTAL
- 1—place of worship
 - 2—erase
 - 10—ready money
 - 14—articulate utterance
 - 15—seed yielding an oil
 - 16—an elaborate melody
 - 17—bay or rears
 - 18—small body of water
 - 19—breach
 - 20—injury
 - 21—distance
 - 23—chilly part of ground grain
 - 24—hardened
 - 25—hook in an eccentric rod
 - 26—extremities
 - 31—moved swiftly
 - 32—sets on
 - 33—afford diversion to
 - 34—sliced cabbage as a salad
 - 40—creep furtively
 - 41—saw bird of prey
 - 42—whole outer boundary of a body
 - 44—charge
 - 45—drive a nail slantingly
 - 46—biblical term meaning worthless
 - 48—boy
 - 49—unleaked
 - 53—breed of pigeons (plural)
 - 54—a lary person
 - 56—recreated
 - 61—hindmost
 - 62—lover
 - 63—to bear
 - 64—fruit of a palm
 - 65—a nobleman
 - 66—irregularly notched, of leaves
 - 67—vehicle on runners
 - 68—a volcano in Sicily
 - 69—behind

SATURDAY'S ANSWERS

POLLY AND HER PALS

(Follow Polly and Her Pals in the Big Comic Section of the Sunday Advertiser)

Good Hunting

SHIPPY

(Follow Shippy in the Big Comic Section of the Sunday Advertiser)

By Way of Precaution

LITTLE JIMMY

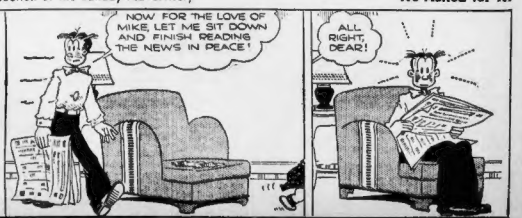

Old-Man-Who-Never-Laughes

BLONDIE

(Follow Blondie in the Big Comic Section of the Sunday Advertiser)

He Asked for It!

"THE American Constitution is, so far as I can see, THE MOST WONDERFUL WORK ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man."—WILLIAM E. GLADSTONE, England's illustrious statesman, in an article, "Kin Beyond Sea," published in September, 1878.

'Serious Consequences'

We're Still Waiting to See Them

When Secretary Hull warned Russia of "serious consequences" if it continued its Communist agitation here, the American people assumed that by meant what he said. Russia rejected the warning, and will continue its agitation here. Even the State Department is not so glib as it once was.

But the "serious consequences" of which Mr. Hull spoke so bravely—where are they?

The only consequence the American people have noted is a statement from Mr. Hull "to whom it may concern" that Russia had better be good—or else.

This statement was not even addressed to the Russian Government.

It was merely devoted to the circumambient air. Messrs. Stalin, Litvinoff and Dimitroff do not seem to be taking the "serious consequences" as seriously as Mr. Hull hoped they would.

All of which will make thinking Americans ask whether the Raw Deal is in earnest about stopping Russia's Communist propaganda in this country, or whether its show of virtuous indignation is merely another Raw Deal bluff.

Perhaps an actual break with Russia—which seems inevitable eventually—will be postponed as long as possible.

Say, until the middle of the Presidential campaign.

A dramatic severance of relations then might persuade skeptical voters that the Raw Deal, in spite of Communist trimmings, is not really Red at heart, but true-blue American.

Some such evidence will have to be offered the country—that seems plain—and it might be more effective politically if offered next year than now.

The potato-snooper and other hordes of "regimenters" will be getting into their stride then, and to plain Americans they will look a good deal like Soviet secret police.

Welcome to Boston Bar Association

American Bar Association's announcement that it will hold its annual meeting in Boston in 1936 is important.

Not only is the hospitality of the Boston Council accepted for the first time since 1919, but also we are assured the presence of this notable body for a great occasion.

That is the observance of the Harvard Tercentenary in September, 1936.

The American Bar Association at its first meeting in Boston in 1893 had 900 members; today it boasts a membership of 27,000.

This body has backed all worthwhile reforms achieved in the law since its organization.

The Boston meeting is sure to see the advancement of MORE reforms needed for protection of reputable lawyers and clients.

Arbella Worth Saving

Ship of Note

More than three centuries ago the good ship Arbella sailed into Salem Harbor, with Governor Endicott and his followers aboard.

A replica of her, built for the Salem Tercentenary, interested many thousands in the Witch City and later in the Charles.

Salem actors are planning to preserve this reproduction of the historic old vessel.

A lesson in history like this is of great value.

It is comparable to that offered by the Yankee whaling vessel preserved in a concrete base by Colonel Edward Rowland Gessner at South Dartmouth.

Ruinous Policies

Wallace in the Saddle

The Greek steamer Kyriakoula steamed up from lower Boston Harbor the other day with 250,000 bushels of Argentine corn.

To date this year Boston has received enormous quantities of grain from the Ukraine, Romania, Poland and Canada.

Boston grain dealers are quoted as saying Argentine corn was shipped into Illinois while farmers forty miles from Chicago were being ordered to plow under their growing corn.

The AAA funds to pay for such destruction come, of course, from the taxpayers.

It's too bad that Secretary Wallace at Bowdoin lost first his speech manuscript, then his poise.

Otherwise he MIGHT have been able to explain to us possibly dense New Englanders who, if anyone, reaps financial benefits from his policies.

"Crackpot," you call them?

Why, friend, you took the word right off our lips!

Lawes or Hoover?

Which Is Right?

Warden Lawes, hopeful head of Sing Sing, says you can reform any criminal in five years.

J. Edgar Hoover, less sentimental head of the G-Men, disagrees—and points out as one example Alfred Otto Wagner, the ex-convict and "misery chieftain" who wrote extortion notes to the families of kidnap victims while he was out on parole.

As Wagner was an inmate of Warden Lawes' "finishing school" on the Hudson for EIGHT AND ONE-HALF years, you can make your own choice between the views of Messrs. Lawes and Hoover.

The New Potato Blight

By T. E. Powers

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

New York, Sept. 9.—Diary: With my wife to call on Valeria Edwards, an ex-crowley, London Gaily girl, brought to head of a burn, then through the big city.

Washington market and home to find letters from Thyrus Winslow, Edward Jones and G. Morris.

Then, of course, there's Col. Charles Wright, of the Social Register, who puts big black cigars in his bigger and blacker, the better-in public as well as private.

Dolores, the show girl, smoked a thimble pipe in her dressing room and I hear of a body burlesque lady on Second avenue added to the so-called Pittsburgh style.

Hall and farewell: Prince Alexis Mordani, on leaving a crowd at the Ritz bar in Paris for Spain and his fatal accident called out.

"So long! I'm off to get away from things!"

Irish claims six women are heart-broken by his passing. His personality was astounding. Lady Sanford was among hundreds who met him with pre-dilection and weeping eyes.

Bagatelle: I won them all. Thomas, the young man, has become a speed boat enthusiast. . . .

There is no slight indication that life was ever intended to be other than serene. To the contrary, all evidence proves that healthy life must be an active one.

And if you lead an active life, it's a cinch that you are seldom safe and even less often happy.

Life in its very essence is conflict. Cell against cell-force against force—desire against desire.

Which is Reason No. 9, 924,358 why all these schemes for an ideal Government or an ideal Working Program are plain bad things.

"People who reason," McIntyre as a young man may be shown no fair for fancy dream. "You'll see how about those red plush ear tabs with the brass slip rod?"

From a home town paper: "People who reason," McIntyre as a young man may be shown no fair for fancy dream. "You'll see how about those red plush ear tabs with the brass slip rod?"

Valentine Williams in a postscript from the Guards' Club, London, observes:

"I sat next to Shaw at the theatre. He had a low brow, a complexion, clear eye, vigorous figure and the sterling mind of a man in a ledger. Few at all equal him in alertness. In a hour of the Cotnam and Captain James Laver (Nymph Errant), Francis Brett Young and other famous Jims."

Personal nomination for the still most forlorn of the poor still rich girls—the former Edna Hutton.

One of New York's most popular grand dames—with a name that threatens society columns almost daily—does not smoke. Neither does she smoke cigarettes but does smoke for a half hour in the privacy of her boudoir before retiring.

Then, of course, there's Col. Charles Wright, of the Social Register, who puts big black cigars in his bigger and blacker, the better-in public as well as private.

Dolores, the show girl, smoked a thimble pipe in her dressing room and I hear of a body burlesque lady on Second avenue added to the so-called Pittsburgh style.

Hall and farewell: Prince Alexis Mordani, on leaving a crowd at the Ritz bar in Paris for Spain and his fatal accident called out.

"So long! I'm off to get away from things!"

Listen, World!

By Elsie Robinson

The Greatest Danger is Safety. You spend about two-thirds of your time being afraid. Worrying about things which may harm you. Dodging risks. Taking precautions. Yet you never give a thought to the greatest danger of all.

SAFETY. The greatest danger in human life is safety. It is the lack of peril. The deadliest risk you can run is to have—no risk to run.

What we need is not less struggle, but bigger and better struggle. What we need is not less struggle, but bigger and better struggle.

On the eve of the next national observance of September 17—the day of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States—another conspiracy is being launched against the American youth to open the door to the despotic rule of which the Constitution is the cornerstone.

Proof of this cowardly plot is now going through the United States mails into every State of the Union. Among the alleged conspirators are the names of the director of one of the most powerful of the new Federal agencies and one of the most powerful of the new Federal agencies.

PROTECTED PERSON. You did your quickest thinking, hardest hustling, keenest living when you had met at stake. You were worth most, physically, mentally and morally when you had to face the toughest competition and criticism.

And the day things began to get easy you began to go wrong. Soft snaps did worse things to you than all the perils and penalties of adversity. Complacency is a million times more demoralizing than any other enemy.

The worst pest in private life, and the greatest menace in public, is complacency. It is the enemy who has never been completely vanquished by adversity.

PROTECTED PERSON. You did your quickest thinking, hardest hustling, keenest living when you had met at stake. You were worth most, physically, mentally and morally when you had to face the toughest competition and criticism.

And the day things began to get easy you began to go wrong. Soft snaps did worse things to you than all the perils and penalties of adversity. Complacency is a million times more demoralizing than any other enemy.

The worst pest in private life, and the greatest menace in public, is complacency. It is the enemy who has never been completely vanquished by adversity.

PROTECTED PERSON. You did your quickest thinking, hardest hustling, keenest living when you had met at stake. You were worth most, physically, mentally and morally when you had to face the toughest competition and criticism.

And the day things began to get easy you began to go wrong. Soft snaps did worse things to you than all the perils and penalties of adversity. Complacency is a million times more demoralizing than any other enemy.

The worst pest in private life, and the greatest menace in public, is complacency. It is the enemy who has never been completely vanquished by adversity.

PROTECTED PERSON. You did your quickest thinking, hardest hustling, keenest living when you had met at stake. You were worth most, physically, mentally and morally when you had to face the toughest competition and criticism.

And the day things began to get easy you began to go wrong. Soft snaps did worse things to you than all the perils and penalties of adversity. Complacency is a million times more demoralizing than any other enemy.

The worst pest in private life, and the greatest menace in public, is complacency. It is the enemy who has never been completely vanquished by adversity.

PROTECTED PERSON. You did your quickest thinking, hardest hustling, keenest living when you had met at stake. You were worth most, physically, mentally and morally when you had to face the toughest competition and criticism.

And the day things began to get easy you began to go wrong. Soft snaps did worse things to you than all the perils and penalties of adversity. Complacency is a million times more demoralizing than any other enemy.

The worst pest in private life, and the greatest menace in public, is complacency. It is the enemy who has never been completely vanquished by adversity.

PROTECTED PERSON. You did your quickest thinking, hardest hustling, keenest living when you had met at stake. You were worth most, physically, mentally and morally when you had to face the toughest competition and criticism.

And the day things began to get easy you began to go wrong. Soft snaps did worse things to you than all the perils and penalties of adversity. Complacency is a million times more demoralizing than any other enemy.

The worst pest in private life, and the greatest menace in public, is complacency. It is the enemy who has never been completely vanquished by adversity.

The Kings Come Back

Human Side of the News

By Edwin C. Hill

(GLOBE TROTTER OF HEARST METROTONE NEWS)

There is a rise in the market for kings in Europe, and the next year may see a few more before war is a war of kings. The war of kings is a war of kings. The war of kings is a war of kings.

The upside in the fortune of the monarchies seems a natural consequence of the general disarray of the lessons of the World War. Europe is arising again, peace treaties have been scrapped, republics like that of Germany are but history, and the old-time monarchies are the order of the day.

So why not kings again? They would complete the picture of Europe as it was before the final June of 1914.

A well-dressed gentleman of 45, who wears his gray top hat and monocle in the races at Ascot, is the center of an international situation. He is George, the Duke of Kent, son of the ex-king of Greece, at present an exile in London.

He lost his job 12 years ago after holding it for only a year. The Greek king, King George, was a republican in 1923. Greece packed up and has been in Dover street, London, ever since, except for his trips to Africa and India to hunt big game.

WHICH GEORGE? Greece seems booked for a long reign. The question is: Will it be this George or another George, who is none other than the Duke of Kent, son of the ex-king of Greece?

He is more than ever England is anxious to re-establish its sphere of influence in the eastern Mediterranean. With Mussolini challenging British supremacy in this route to the East, it would be a great feat to have Athens linked up with Downing street.

The Duke of Kent's bride, who was Princess Marina of Greece, was a member of the royal family. She was crowned king of her native Greece and her husband was crowned king of Greece.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship. He was born, which accounted for the length of his kingship.

Plot Against R. O. T. C.

By JAMES T. WILLIAMS, Jr.

Verily, "Eternal Vigilance Is the Price of Liberty." On the eve of the next national observance of September 17—the day of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States—another conspiracy is being launched against the American youth to open the door to the despotic rule of which the Constitution is the cornerstone.

Proof of this cowardly plot is now going through the United States mails into every State of the Union. Among the alleged conspirators are the names of the director of one of the most powerful of the new Federal agencies and one of the most powerful of the new Federal agencies.

PROTECTED PERSON. You did your quickest thinking, hardest hustling, keenest living when you had met at stake. You were worth most, physically, mentally and morally when you had to face the toughest competition and criticism.

And the day things began to get easy you began to go wrong. Soft snaps did worse things to you than all the perils and penalties of adversity. Complacency is a million times more demoralizing than any other enemy.

The worst pest in private life, and the greatest menace in public, is complacency. It is the enemy who has never been completely vanquished by adversity.

PROTECTED PERSON. You did your quickest thinking, hardest hustling, keenest living when you had met at stake. You were worth most, physically, mentally and morally when you had to face the toughest competition and criticism.

And the day things began to get easy you began to go wrong. Soft snaps did worse things to you than all the perils and penalties of adversity. Complacency is a million times more demoralizing than any other enemy.

The worst pest in private life, and the greatest menace in public, is complacency. It is the enemy who has never been completely vanquished by adversity.

PROTECTED PERSON. You did your quickest thinking, hardest hustling, keenest living when you had met at stake. You were worth most, physically, mentally and morally when you had to face the toughest competition and criticism.

And the day things began to get easy you began to go wrong. Soft snaps did worse things to you than all the perils and penalties of adversity. Complacency is a million times more demoralizing than any other enemy.

The worst pest in private life, and the greatest menace in public, is complacency. It is the enemy who has never been completely vanquished by adversity.

PROTECTED PERSON. You did your quickest thinking, hardest hustling, keenest living when you had met at stake. You were worth most, physically, mentally and morally when you had to face the toughest competition and criticism.

And the day things began to get easy you began to go wrong. Soft snaps did worse things to you than all the perils and penalties of adversity. Complacency is a million times more demoralizing than any other enemy.

The worst pest in private life, and the greatest menace in public, is complacency. It is the enemy who has never been completely vanquished by adversity.

PROTECTED PERSON. You did your quickest thinking, hardest hustling, keenest living when you had met at stake. You were worth most, physically, mentally and morally when you had to face the toughest competition and criticism.

And the day things began to get easy you began to go wrong. Soft snaps did worse things to you than all the perils and penalties of adversity. Complacency is a million times more demoralizing than any other enemy.

The worst pest in private life, and the greatest menace in public, is complacency. It is the enemy who has never been completely vanquished by adversity.

PROTECTED PERSON. You did your quickest thinking, hardest hustling, keenest living when you had met at stake. You were worth most, physically, mentally and morally when you had to face the toughest competition and criticism.

And the day things began to get easy you began to go wrong. Soft snaps did worse things to you than all the perils and penalties of adversity. Complacency is a million times more demoralizing than any other enemy.